

Career guidance in schools from European and international perspectives: Designing transfer in career guidance between science and practice.

Editors: Christoph Krause, Christof Nägele, Rudolf Schröder, Małgorzata Rosalska, and Soledad Romero-Rodríguez

Citation of the volume

Krause, C., Nägele, C., Schröder, R., Rosalska, M., & Romero-Rodríguez, S. (Eds.). (2026). Career guidance in schools from European and international perspectives: Designing transfer in career guidance between science and practice. Career Lead/OAPublishing.

Table of Contents

Career Guidance in Schools from European and International Perspectives

TITLE	AUTHORS	PAGES
Editorial: Career Guidance in Schools from European and International Perspectives	Christoph Krause	V–IX
'I believe that employees adapt to their work, while self-employed people adapt their work to themselves.' – Student beliefs about professional and entrepreneurial self-employment	Tina Fletemeyer, Rudolf Schröder, Christoph Krause	1–14
Articulating sciences, practices, and everyday life for working to heterogeneity: Dialogical and collaborative production of knowledge and interventions in career guidance	Marcelo Afonso Ribeiro	15–23
Fit for heterogeneity? – Potential challenges and necessary teacher competences for providing career guidance to students with a migratory background	Anna-Lena Müller	24–37
Design of a research study to evaluate professional competencies through innovative pedagogical approaches in the university context	Gabriela Aisenson, Viviana Valenzuela, Laura Luna, Andrea Ciccone	38–49
Proposing a Model for Green Career Counseling in the Context of Sustainable Development and Green Jobs	Nurten Karacan Özdemir, H. Kübra Özdoğan	50–63
Application of Transformative Learning Theory in a Training Program for Career Counsellors	Amina Isanović HadžiomeroVIC	64–74
Career guidance actions from students' perspective. An analysis of the degree of perceived usefulness	Natalia Rodriguez-Muñiz, María-del-Henar Pérez-Herrero, Joaquín-Lorenzo Burguera, Marta Virgós-Sánchez	75–85
The role of career advisors in the development of transversal skills in job seekers and students with virtual reality (VR) simulators	Carlos Infante Rejano, Nuria Vallejo Acebal	86–97
Labour Market Expectations Towards HR Professionals: Insights from a Content Analysis of Job Advertisements	Nóra Hegyi-Halmos	98–117
A Study on Competencies of Career Advisors from Counselling Practices in Rural Maharashtra (India)	Dipak Tatpuje, Yogeshwari Giri, Avinash Kakade	118–127
Bridging Research and Practice in Career Education: The Role of Ankara University Career Planning and Human Resources Application and Research Center (KARMER) and the "Adaptation to Professional Life" Course	Nazli Gonul Kocaman	128–134
Specialised Support for Doctoral Students in Academic Career Offices – Needs, Tools, and Effectiveness in the Polish Context	Magdalena Barańska	135–147
Career Guidance as a School Development Task – A Comparative Perspective of Vocational Schools in Germany and Austria	Jerusha Klein, Katja Driesel-Lange, Fabian Staudinger, Sabine Zenz	148–160
Career Guidance Workshops in Science and Practice: Their Impact on Career Indecision, Certainty and Mental Well-being	Liridona Jemini-Gashi	163–173
Augmented Career Guidance and Counselling – Insights into a developmental project on the application and evaluation of an AI-System	Peter Weber, Bernd-Joachim Ertelt	174–186
Checklists and Benchmarks – Valuable Tools for Enhancing Career Guidance at Schools? Systemic overview and presentation of the Guiding Schools Checklist	Ingo Blaich, Tillmann Grüneberg	187–200
Empirical Study on the Systematization of Digital Career Guidance Measures	Marie Tuchscherer-Schad, Claudia Wiepcke	201–226

Co-funded by the European Union

